Important notice to unitholders

Name change for the Vanguard Cash Plus Fund

From 1 October 2020, the Vanguard Cash Plus Fund (Fund) will be renamed as the Vanguard Short Term Fixed Interest Fund.

The management fee will also be reduced from 0.29% p.a to 0.19% p.a.

Why are we doing this?

We are renaming the Fund to the Vanguard Short Term Fixed Interest Fund in order to more closely align the name of the Fund with the Fund's existing investment strategy.

The investment objective of the Fund remains unchanged – that is, it will still aim to deliver regular income and a total return that exceeds that of the Bloomberg AusBond Bank Bill Index as currently described in the Product Disclosure Statement. It will pursue this objective by continuing to invest in high-quality money market and debt securities issued by a variety of government, government related and corporate entities in Australia.

Our decision to lower the fee on the Fund is part of Vanguard's ongoing commitment to investors to continually review the pricing of our funds and pass on any savings where possible.

When will this occur?

The name change will occur on or around 1 October 2020.

How does this affect me?

The name change will occur automatically and you are not required to do anything in regards to this notification. Again, there is no change to the investment objective, strategy or distribution frequency of the Fund

The name change together with the fee change will be updated on the Product Disclosure Statements (PDS). These documents will be reissued in the coming weeks. To ensure you are investing with the most up-to-date information, please access the latest PDSs by visiting our website.
