MLC Asset Management has advised that after more than five years as Portfolio Manager with the CMR team, John Woods will be leaving us at the end of February to pursue a new opportunity. Michael Wang an analyst in the team for 6 years is also moving on. We wish them well in the next steps in their careers.

This team change coincides with the appointment in early February 2021 of Anthony Golowenko as Portfolio Manager.

Anthony was previously with Clime Investment Management, where he had overall responsibility for Clime's investment team, strategies and performance outcomes. During his time at Clime, Anthony launched a suite of objective-based Separately Managed Account model portfolios. In previous roles, he gained experience in domestic and international equities, return enhancing and risk reducing overlays and objective-based strategy development.

The CMR team is a strong and well-resourced team led by Al Clark who has spent the last two decades building investment solutions across Australia and Asia. The addition of Anthony adds to the strength of the CMR team which has deep and wide-ranging industry experience.
